Academic Service-Learning

As an added means of fulfilling its Mission Statement, the University inaugurated its Academic Service-Learning Program in 1995. This program facilitates the implementation of the Mission Statement by members of the University community and calls on them to be mindful of its Vincentian character and tradition as many of the service projects focus on the poor, the marginalized, immigrants and groups and individuals with special needs. The Mission Statement commits the University to community service programs, which combine with reflective learning to enlarge the classroom experience.

In Academic Service-Learning, faculty specialists in the professions or in the humanities link service to the community with academic and career goals. A variety of assignments challenge students to achieve carefully crafted teaching objectives in an experiential hands-on setting, through reflection and analysis while experiencing the value of service. Since its inception, the program has been adopted as a teaching method by faculty in every department from fine arts to pharmacy, marketing to modern languages. Their support clearly shows that students learn better when exposed to the real-life context of the classroom issues—when challenged by community needs and called to offer their best to the people they encounter.

There are many opportunities for a St. John's education to include an Academic Service-Learning component as the program has expanded and is available on four campuses—Queens, Staten Island, Manhattan and Rome. For further information about the program, you may contact Janet E. Mangione, M.A. Associate Director of Academic Service-Learning, Bent Hall, Garden Level, (718) 990-6268 or e-mail mangionj@stjohns.edu.

Guidelines Determining Eligibility for Students with Disabilities

- St. John's University students requesting accommodations for a disability must present documentation of the disability to the student life administrator on the appropriate campus for verification of eligibility.
- The evaluation must have been completed by a qualified, certified and/or licensed professional (physician, health care provider, psychologist/psychiatrist) who has experience with an adolescent and adult population. The professional's credentials must appear on the documentation and the documentation must be dated within three years of the request for accommodation.
- The evaluator must include in the test report evidence that instruments selected are reliable and valid for use with an adolescent or adult. Documentation of an impairment alone may not be sufficient to require that the student be provided a reasonable accommodation. It must be demonstrated that the impairment rises to the level of a disability according to the Americans with Disabilities Act. For example, the impairment must substantially limit or restrict a major life activity as compared to the average person in the general population.

- The student life administrator will review the documentation and the request for accommodation will be determined. When necessary, specific academic units will be consulted regarding the accommodation requested. If the presented documentation is sufficient the student will meet with the student life administrator regarding appropriate accommodations at St. John's University.
- A student, having dissatisfaction with the decision for accommodation granted, has the right to appeal the decision in accordance with the University's "Policy Against Discrimination and Sexual Harassment and Related Grievance Procedures."
- The student life administrator may be contacted regarding specific documentation required or for explanation of this policy.

All documentation will be kept confidential in accordance with legal requirements and should be submitted directly to:

Students

The University's retention and graduation rates exceed national averages of institutions which participate in the Consortium for Student Retention Data Exchange (CSRDE). Seventy-nine percent of first-time, full-time baccalaureate degree seeking freshmen who entered in the fall of 2004 returned in the fall of 2005. Sixty-four percent of first-time, full-time baccalaureate freshmen who entered in the fall of 1999 graduated within six years.

Our teacher preparation program is approved by the New York State Education Department. Ninety-five percent of students who graduated from a teacher preparation program at St. John's University during the 2004-2005 academic year took and passed the New York State Teacher Certification exams, compared to 94% statewide. As of fall of 2005, there were over 1,650 students in teacher preparation programs. A student spends 35-40 hours a week student-teaching depending on the program.
